BOYHOOD'S YEARS.

I'm dreaming of the years, Will,
That sunny days are over,
When o'er life's soft and sunny skies,
There came no wintry weather;
For Memory turns full often, Will,
To the joyous days of yore,
Those sunny days of peace and hope,
Which, alas! will come no more.

I mind me of the old oaks, Will,
In whose shade we used to play,
And the little attic chamber,
Where we used to kneel and pray;
And then the clear, cool brook, Will,
That ran by the garden gate,
Whose rippling waves we used to seek,
For summer's noontide ray.

Remembrance haunts the school-room, Will,
Where walls I've seen decay,
For its spirit once so gay and bright,
Have long since passed away.
With rank and noxious weeds, Will,
Its grounds are overgrown,
For the little feet that shaped its paths,
Shall press the soil no more.

Al! I mind me of those years, Will,
That cheered our young years,
And of our mother, 'mid maternal strife,
Some fond, successful tears;
For those kind words of cheer, Will,
We've quaffed of often years,
We've known no blue or unclouded
As when we both were boys.

Yet 'twere needless to regret, Will,
That youthful days are over,
Hope within us still is true,
Of pleasures yet to store.
Al! but I often think, Will,
That with future years blessed,
Remembrance bright will still incline
To love our boyhood best.

MEMORY.

There is to me a magic charm,
A bliss that Memory gives,
It lights upon those happy hours
In which past pleasures live.

I would not lose the dearest bliss
That charms the poetic heart;
When fancy free and untrammelled
Delights in Memory's power.

It is a sunbeam to the heart,
And glows the darkest eve;
It charms in midnight's watchful hour,
A loved and vanished dream.

It gives us back the joys of youth,
Unclouded, free from care;
And friendship too which proved the truth
Of many an earnest prayer.

Thou' faded hopes, and grief and care,
Had ever marked my lot;
I would not drink of Lethe's stream,
Or e'en deep sorrow blot.

Miscellaneous.

A Woman's Answer.

A writer illustrating the fact, that some errors are lifted into importance by efforts to refute them, when they need to be treated with wholesome doses of contempt and ridicule, observes that all the blows inflicted by the benighted club of certain logicians, are not half so effective as a box on the ear of a celebrated atheist by the hand of beauty. After having in vain preached to a circle of ladies, he attempted to revenge himself by saying, "Pardon my error, ladies; I did not imagine that in a house where wit vies with grace, I alone should have the honor of not believing in God."

"You are not alone, sir," answered the mistress of the house, "my horses, my dog, my cat, share this honor with you; only these poor brutes have the good sense not to boast of it."

This reminds us of what occurred a few years ago on a steamboat, on one of our western rivers. A thing in the shape of man was gliding in his abode, avowing that the present life was all of a man; that he had no soul and no hereafter. "And so you say you have no soul," asked a gentleman in the group, evidently desirous to reason with him on the subject. "No," replied the atheist, "not a whit more than a pig." The gentleman was about to enter on an argument with him, when an elderly Scotch lady spoke up smartly, "Sir, I hope you will not spend your breath reasoning with that creature; by his sin confession, he has no soul more than a pig, and ye wad nae argue wi' a pig."

Signs.

It's a good sign to have a man enter your office with a friendly greeting—"Here's six dollars to pay for my paper."

It's a bad sign to hear a man say he is too poor to take a paper—ten to one he carries home a jug of "red-eye" that cost him half a dollar.

It's a good sign to see a man doing an act of charity to his fellows.

It's a bad sign to hear him boasting of it.

It's a good sign to see the color of health in a man's face.

It's a bad sign to see it all concentrated in his nose.

It's a good sign to see an honest man wear old clothes.

It's a bad sign to see them filling holes in his windows.

It's a good sign to see a man wipe the perspiration from his face.

It's a bad sign to see him wipe his cheeks as he comes out of a saloon.

It's a good sign to see a woman dressed with taste and neatness.

It's a bad sign to see her husband's sword for her feathers and foolery, gems and jewelry.

It's a good sign to see a man or woman advertise in the papers.

It's a bad sign to see the sheriff advertise for them.

Be the same to your friends, both in adversity or prosperity.

Biddy Callaghan.

"Will I speak till ye, ave ye please sir?" said a raw-boned Irish woman the other day, to one of our respected citizens.

"Certainly, my good woman," he responded, "what is it you want?"

"Troth an' I dunno," said she; "but 'tis a gentleman ye are, an' I'd be likin' to say a word to ye sure."

"Well say on!"

"Deed it's thankful I am the day," said Biddy, "to meet with a jintleman as uncler-stan's me, an' I a poor lone woman, from the ould country, wid niver a chile, nor a child to my name, though yer honor," she continued apologetically, "that's not my fault, neither, seein' it's not married I am, nor niver intend to be, please God, till Mike Donovan axes me. May be ye know Mike Donovan, yer honor?"

Our friend professed his perfect ignorance of any acquaintance whatever, with that particular Irishman—so Biddy went on:

"Sure I don't wonder at all. Och! botheration, but 'tis a lazy madmadun is Mike, an' he goes about with both his hands in ake pocket, for all the world like a jintleman, and divil a rap he has there, barrin three coppers wid holes in em, which he kapes for good luck, an' wad ould rusty knife that he lost in the salt say comin' over; but by my troth I wasn't sorry for that, any how, for 'twas Alley Doolan as giv it him for a keepsake, an' now it's all over wid her. Oh! but Alley Doolan wad be a bad girl, sir. Sorry bit of good do I know of her at all. It's the blessed truth I'm speakin', for she stole—"

"Stole what?"

"Mike Donovan, sir."

"Well, but that was no crime!"

"Och! millin murder. Did I ever hear the likes of that; an' Mike Donovan my own swateheart, as swore, over and over across a broken sixpence, that he would follow me to the winds' end, an' buyant it, if I'd be good to him."

"I'm afraid this Donovan was a dangerous man."

"Och! divil a ha'porth of danger about Mike; but he's a broth of a boy among the giteens. 'Tisn't at the patters and fairs, that ye'll be afadin' Mike, an' sure but 'tisn't wad be a better man than he wid the shillelagh. Little Andy Sheehan wad bite him, any day in the world, wid a big stick in his fist; but for all that Mike was the dweent boy for a dance; an' Alley Doolan stole him, sir."

"It was very wrong in her to do that."

"Troth an' I dunno, sir. May be it's for all the best. An' yet isn't a-y to give him up, any how, an' I a poor lone widdy wid niver a chile nor a child, 'tis sorry I am to say, an' that's not my fault any how!"

"Then it is probably very well you did not marry Mike."

"Surra bit can I tell, sir. May be 'tis may be dea't; but 'tis sad enough I was a breakin' wid him, an' that's no lie."

"Why, by your own account he was a lazy an' good for nothing."

"Och! murder, did I say that? Sure I think there was a blister on my tongue."

"Deed an' deed, sir, Mike was a nice man, an' a decent man, barrin' his likin' for Alley Doolan, an' little good sh'd' git of him now I does he think."

"So then ye as intend to marry him after all?"

"Arrah! now, git out wid ye! But yer honor's a jintleman, an' 'tis jokin ye are. What u'd I do with him now, I'd like to know, an' all my love for the sake of the world squelched out by Alley Doolan?"

"And yet I perceive you are still longing for him to come back to you."

"Is it I? Och! but I'd go round Amer-ick wid nothin' on my feet at all, till my shoes blistered 'em, afore I'd say the good word to Mike Donovan again."

Just at this moment there came, shambling down the street, a sturdy-looking, well-set Irishman, with a fresh, healthy face, and a merry, twinkling eye. The woman Biddy caught sight of him she lunged down her head and commenced fumbling with the corner of her apron. As he approached nearer, her bosom began to heave and fall in a manner which some modern ladies would have laughed at, and others would have envied. Presently he came quite up to her, and touching her shoulder, said, with a good-humored smile: "Biddy, darlin', wad ye come wid me? Sure my heart's break wid ye, Biddy ashoon."

Biddy gave him one glance—our informant said it would be the end of it, and turned away. Presently he looked again, and there was Biddy, moving off with Mike, hanging lovingly on his arm, and talking and laughing alternately.

Fighting Women.

Some of the earliest notices of boxing matches on record, singularly enough, took place between combatants of the fair sex. In an English journal of 1772, for instance, we find the following page of a battle thrown down and accepted:

Challenge.—I, Elizabeth Wilkinson, of Clerkenwell, having had some words with Hannah Highell, and regarding satisfaction, do invite her to meet me upon the stage, and box me for three quarters: each woman holding a half a crown in each hand, and the first woman that drops the money to lose the battle.

Answer.—I, Hannah Highell, of Newgate Market, hearing of the resolution of Elizabeth Wilkinson, will not fail, and willing, to give her more blows than words, desiring home blows, and from her no favor. She may expect a good thumping!

The half crown in the hands was an ingenious device to prevent scratching!

Utility of the Telegraph.

A peasant received lately by mail, a letter from his son Joseph, a Zouave before Sebastopol. The young man mentioned the fact that his legs were yet whole, but that his shoes were the worse for wear. The affectionate father having purchased a pair of nine-and-a-halfs, was perplexed as to the means of forwarding them. At last he thought of the Telegraph—the line to Marseilles run through his village. He put the address on one of the soles and slung the shoes over the wire. A peal, passing by struck by the solicity of their workman-ship, appropriated them and placed his used-up trampers in their place. The next morning the old duddy returned to the spot, to see if the telegraph had executed his commission. He saw the substitution which had been effected. "I vow," he exclaimed, "if Joseph hasn't sent back his old ones!"

Dunkirk.

The editor of the Medina Tribune, evidently has no favorable ideas of Dunkirk. In reply to a "puff" for the town, written by a brother of the quill, the Tribune discourses thus:

"Let the editor of the Gazette stay over night at one of the Dunkirk hotels—let him eat a regular Dunkirk meal, sleep on a Dunkirk bed with Dunkirk fleas and Dunkirk bed bugs, and pay a Dunkirk board-bill to a Dunkirk hotel-keeper—then, after his breakfast has been digested, let him take a stroll through Dunkirk street, among deserted Dunkirk shanties, wads through Dunkirk Dutch and Irishmen, come in contact with Dunkirk grabbers—and, after he has thus gone the rounds, and seen Dunkirk as she is, let him come home and write a Dunkirk puff. Our opinion is, he would mix sulphur in his ink and write with a butcher knife. Try it on, neighbor, and if you do not agree with us, that Dunkirk is the most God-forsaken conglomeration of shanties this side of Cape Horn, we will retract and acknowledge the justice of your rebuke."

Horse's Tails.

The tail of the horse is considered an emblem of dignity in Turkey, from the fact that a Turkish army once lost its standard in battle, when the leader, to inspire the courage of his men, cut off the tail of a horse, hoisted it on the head of a spear, and rallied his force to victory. As a reward, he received military promotion, the emblem of which was a horse's tail. The rank of the owner is known by the number of tails he is allowed, the highest being three, and the others are called "spas of three tails."

The stream was covered with animalcules, visible to the naked eye, of a whitish cast streaked with blood. The Captain brought to New York a bottle of the water, which has been analyzed by a chemist and found to contain a very large quantity of the remains of infusorial animalcules, which doubtless caused the strange appearance of the water. Deep-sea soundings have shown that the bottom of the Atlantic is, in many places, covered with such remains.

"Sloshin' About."

At a certain "court time" in Pike county, Alabama, there was a trial for a general row, and a witness testified that one Saltonstall just kept sloshin' about. As this remark regarding the celebrated Saltonstall was frequently repeated, said the lawyer for the "defence":

"Come witness, say over again what it was that Mr. Saltonstall had to do with this affair."

"Saltonstall! why, I've told you several times, the rest of them clutched and pined off, but Saltonstall he just kept sloshin' about."

"Ah, good fellow," exclaimed the lawyer, "we want to know what this is. It isn't legal evidence in the shape you put it. Tell us what you mean by sloshin' about."

"Well," answered the witness very deliberately, "I'll try. You see, John Brewer and Sykes clinched and fought. That's in a legal form, aint it?"

"Oh, yes," said the lawyer, "on on."

"Abner and Blackman then pitched into one another, and Blackman bit off a piece of Abner's lip—that's legal, too aint it?"

"Proceed."

"Simpson and Bill Stone and Murry was all together on the ground, a bitin' and kickin' one another—that's legal, too is it?"

"Very—but go on."

"And Saltonstall made it his business to walk backward and forward through the crowd with a big stick in his hand, and knocked down every loose man in the crowd as fast as he came to 'em—That's what I call sloshin' about."—Montgomery Mail.

A Balloon in a Thunder-Storm.

Wonderful Escape from Death.—We mentioned last week, that Mous. Godard, Col. Latham and Messrs. Hoal, Crippen and Belman ascended in a balloon at Cincinnati on Monday. It appears they encountered a violent thunder-storm in the clouds, which drove the balloon on, it is stated, at the rate of 70 miles an hour, and that they attained an altitude of 17,450 ft. Mr. Belman thus describes their descent after dark and during the storm:

"Suddenly we felt our car rushing over the tops of trees, crashing and tearing the limbs as the balloon was driven along. Mous. G. gave us the valve rope, and mounting the side of the car, he ordered us to hold fast. In another moment we landed in a corn-field, and by the force of the wind we were dragged and bumped along the ground a distance of half a mile; now thro' a fence; then striking the stem of a tree, or whirling through the corn-stalks at a fearful velocity; our heads rapped each other, and not infrequently we saw stars all around. Up and down we went, when the car struck a tree, and Mous. G. and I were hurled to the ground, a distance of 30 feet; the next moment we were crashing against a tall stump of a tree, when Col. Latham and Mr. Hoal were thrown with great violence from the basket, the former on the back of his neck and shoulders, and the latter on his breast. Mr. Crippen and myself were left alone in the car. Mr. Crippen obeying instructions to keep in the bottom of the car, and holding with all my might to the valve-rope, up we mounted. Fortunately we dashed into the limbs of a tall dead tree, and in an instant tree, balloon, car and aeronauts were flat on the ground. Mous. G. had his lip badly cut, and the flesh lacerated on one of his limbs; Col. Latham an ankle sprained, head, shoulder and body generally bruised; Mr. Hoal's breast crushed in, three ribs broken, and otherwise badly bruised; Mr. Crippen's head and neck 'skewed,' and generally scratched and bruised. I was bruised somewhat, but not materially injured."

The Pronouns of the Bible.

Luther pronounced pronouns to be the sweetest and most consolatory expressions to be found in the word of God. What, in fact, more tenderly elevating than where the prophet Isaiah heralds peace and refreshing to the people of Israel? "Comfort ye, comfort ye, my people, saith your God." No longer the "Lord God, the Lord strong and mighty," but "your God and my people." And how marked the difference between saying, "The Lord is a shepherd," and "The Lord is my shepherd;" between the heathen who acknowledges God as the Father of all things, and the ransomed of his well-beloved, who believe in the Lord, "Our Father, which art in heaven," and "The Lord will hear me when I call upon him," and "Lo, I am with you even unto the end of the world."

An Old Plant is the Key Green.

From the palace to the cottage, in Germany, there is scarcely a room to be found which does not possess its ivy-tree. As you walk through the streets and cast your eyes upon the houses, there is scarcely a window which is not twined into a very heavy by the graceful and gracious festoons of ivy. Among the picturesque leaves often gleams forth a small statue of the Madonna, or of Christ.

Costly Women.

The Trenton Gazette says it is officially known that in the single material of silks, in 1854, the importations into the United States amounted to the enormous sum of thirty-four millions of dollars. This was enough to have turned the balance of specie exportation in our favor—or at least to have checked that dangerous depletion of golden blood, which left our whole country in a state of pecuniary prostration, and its reaction swept away so many of our commercial men out of existence. All this—harsh and ungalant as it may sound—was the work of American women; for every article of dress, purchased with these fatal thirty-four millions, could have been substituted, without any essential loss of comfort and elegance, by articles of American product and manufacture, and thus the money kept in the country, and our financial independence preserved.

Good Advice.

The Worcester Transcript gives the following account of a legal exploit quite surpassing the one which lately created some sensation in Newport:

A young legal acquaintance of ours, B—, was called on to defend a miserable specimen of humanity accused of petit larceny; it was at the examination before the justice that the instance occurred. After the preliminaries, when it came to the question of waiving an examination, the prisoner or B— whispered away at each other a few minutes, and then B— asked if he might take the prisoner into an adjoining room to converse with him somewhat more freely. Leave was granted, and they retired. Ten minutes elapsed—fifteen—and it was crowding hard upon twenty minutes of the precious time of the court, when the door was opened and B— made his appearance alone! The constable made a plunge for the next room, but nobody was there, whereupon the following dialogue ensued:

Judge (in great haste)—Mr. B—where is your client? Where is the prisoner?

C—(with great composure)—I don't know your Honor—in fact, I couldn't give you the information.

J—But, Sir, you must know; this is a pretty piece of business; what does it mean, Sir?

B—Well, may it please the court, I was bound to give my client the best advice in my power, as I presume your Honor will admit, and finding the fellow was guilty, guilty as the devil, your Honor, I advised him to leave as quick as he could get a chance—and blow me if he didn't throw up the back window and streak it for the wood about as lively as I ever saw a man move. I was astonished, may it please the Court, at his extraordinary good sense and promptness that I couldn't come in immediately to notify you. Besides I have lost my fee, and I hope that the Court, under the circumstances, will order the State to pay me the amount.

This last was too much for the dignity of the Court, or the propriety of the place—and that case was continued. B—'s reputation as a counsellor rose rapidly.

Do you know me?

Yes, you are the President, said Young America; fix my hat band!

The President fixed his hat band, and then Young America went to his play, contented and happy, that he, too, was the President's "pet."

The Winted Islands.

of which Mr. F. Hincks, of Canada, is appointed Governor by Great Britain, contains a total population of 130,000 inhabitants, and is estimated to be of no more value now than at any former period. There are no wheat or corn lands, and the population is well distributed, embracing also a large proportion of European redoubt proprietors. The land is productive, is in a high state of cultivation, and every estate produces provisions of all kinds in rotation. These facts are stated chiefly in reference to the principal islands, Barbados, but may be taken as true of the whole group, whose crops this season are said to be likely to exceed by 40,000 bushels of sugar what they were in the rainy days of slavery. This, if true, is a very strong fact, going to show that the British West Indies are recovering from the ruinous effects of sudden emancipation.

Life's Changes.

The Lowell News says that there are now in that city two young ladies who were born in New Orleans in opulence, but, in consequence of death and reverses of fortune, were left not only orphans, but penniless. Rather than to remain in indigence at home they made their way to Lowell and entered the mills as operatives, and are now numbering among the many beautiful exemplary and intelligent ladies of the city who labor in the mills.

Vultures.

A letter from the Crimea tells the following tale: "Vultures are very numerous in the Crimea. They smell the powder and await the coming of the fight to throw themselves on their victims. After one of the recent combats, an English officer was found, pressing in both his arms one of those birds of prey, dead, like himself, and which he had crushed in a last effort of agony!"

Frighful Runnings of the Cholera in Florence.

A letter from Florence gives very terrible accounts of the cholera. No less than 11,000 persons have, it is stated, been carried off in the month of August. The population of the city, which is on an average 100,000, is now reduced to 60,000 by death and flight. The Grand Duke, it must be said to his credit, has set a noble example. Although his family has left, he remains himself, and clad in the black veil of the Fraternity of Mercy, he sometimes assists in the burial of the dead. It is positively affirmed in this letter that ten persons were lately buried alive. The horrible fact was brought to light in this way: An Italian warehouse keeper in Palazzo (a faubourg of Florence) was buried for dead in the Trespiano cemetery, with many other supposed corpses, in a common grave. He awoke to a sense of consciousness, and so thin was the covering of sandy earth above him that he made his way out to the surface. Still weak, he lived for three days on roots in the forest, which surrounds the graveyard. At last he recovered strength sufficient to reach his house, where he startled the family, who were in mourning for him. He assured them that he distinctly felt the bodies of numerous people interred with him moving about. The grave was consequently opened, and it was found that many (ten in number, as I have said) had stirred, and several of them had bitten their fingers in agony, and otherwise injured themselves. They were all dead when the investigation was made. The utmost excitement prevailed on the subject among the population.

Fendish Attempt.

As three men belonging to Newark, N. J., were walking on the Morris and Essex railroad track, on Saturday night last, about 8 o'clock, one of them stumbled over an obstruction, which proved to be a large stone, laid directly across the track, which was so heavy that it took all their united strength to remove it! A little farther on they found four more large stones on the track, which they also removed. Proceeding on about 50 yards they found several sleepers, which had lain along side, where another track is building, also placed directly across the rails. Soon after the obstruction had been removed the freight train came dashing along at a rapid rate. Had it not been for the timely discovery, loss of life would have inevitably ensued.

A Lucky Soldier.

It is stated that General Ostensken, whose military career, in Russia, extends over forty-eight years, who has assisted at more than one hundred battles and combats, in which he has usually been found in the first ranks, has never received the slightest wound.

Boston Post-Office.

Envelopes and stamps to the large sum of ten thousand dollars a month are sold at the Boston post office. A room has been fitted up for this special purpose, and a number of clerks give their whole time to this branch of the business of the office.

Singular Cause of Death.

Irving Ellsworth, son of Hon. J. Ellsworth, of New York, was recently standing in front of a buzz saw, in Pleasantville, Iowa, when a piece of oak limb, sharpened end, was thrown by the saw with such force that the sharp end struck him under the left eye, and pierced the brain to the death of two inches. He lived half an hour.

Decrease of Population.

Some facts are published which seem to indicate that the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois have not increased in all quarters. Thus the Methodist Conference, recently held at Sandusky, Ohio, shows in its statistics a decrease of 355 members of the church in the bounds of that conference, 510 preachers, and 4 local preachers; and the decrease is attributed to the emigration constantly going on to Iowa and the new Territories. A census of Peru, Illinois, just taken, also shows a decrease of 250 in the population

OLD SOLDIERS.

Bounty Land Act of 1855.
THE undersigned is now fully prepared to file and prosecute Claims to Bounty Land, for soldiers of the Revolution, of the War of 1812, and of all other wars in which the U. States have been engaged—and for their Widows and minor children.
In addition to his long experience and success, he would add, that in all the many claims he has hitherto filed, (between 100 and 200) he has carefully preserved, and has now everything necessary to establish the rights of claimants—such as Rolls and Lists of Companies, and facilities for furnishing proofs in all cases that may be introduced to him.
He is now rapidly filing claims. He has made complete arrangements for locating Warrants in the Western States. Warrants bought—Warrants sold. Apply personally or by letter to
D. MCNAUGHY.
Gettysburg, March 12.

BOUNTY LANDS.

SOLDIERS who served in any war of the U. States a term not less than fourteen days, are entitled to 160 ACRES BOUNTY LAND, and in case of the death of the soldier, his wife or minor children, (if any) are entitled to the same quantity. In cases where 40 or 80 acres have already been received, the difference necessary to make up the 160 acres can now be drawn.
Apply to the subscriber, at his office,
in Gettysburg, where persons having Land Warrants to sell, may obtain the highest price for them.
R. G. MCNEARY.
March 12.

BOUNTY LAND CLAIMS.

THE undersigned will attend promptly to the collection of claims for BOUNTY LANDS under the late act of CONGRESS.
Those who have already received 40 or 80 Acres, can now receive the balance, by calling on the subscriber and making the necessary application.

Protection against Loss by Fire.

THE undersigned, as Insurance Property holders, that he has been duly appointed Agent of the
"Perry County Mutual Fire Insurance Company," and that he is the only Agent in Adams county for the same.
He will take original and renewed all insurances for said Company, which since its incorporation in 1843 has secured the perfect confidence of the people of Adams and the adjoining Counties (by being authorized to accept of Insurance in any part of the State). Its integrity and ability have been fully and satisfactorily demonstrated.
The gratification of rates of Insurance is applied to the insured interest of the whole Company, and the class of the insured property.
Every person insuring becomes a member of the Company, and in aid in the selection of officers, and in the direction of its operations.
Hon. Moses M. Clark represents the managers in this County in the Board of Managers.

HYGEANA.

Brought Home to the Door of the Million.
A wonderful discovery has been recently made by Dr. Curtis, of this city, in the treatment of Consumption, Asthma, and all diseases of the Lungs. We refer to "Dr. Curtis' Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygeana Vapor and Cherry Syrup." With this new method Dr. C. has restored many afflicted ones to perfect health: as an evidence of which he has immovable certificates. Speaking of the treatment, a physician remarks: "It is evident that inhaling—constantly breathing an agreeable, healthy vapor, the medicinal properties must come in direct contact with the whole of the aerial cavity of the lungs, and thus escape the many and varied changes produced upon them when introduced into the stomach, and subjected to the process of digestion. The Hygeana is for sale at the drugists' throughout the country." See New York Tribune.
The Inhaler is worn on the breast, under the linen without the least inconvenience—the flow of the body being sufficient to evaporate
the fluid.
Hundreds of cases of cure like the following might be named. One Package of Hygeana has cured me of the ASTHMA of six years standing.
Jas. F. Kessinger, P. M. of Danvers, Pa.
I am cured of the ASTHMA of ten years standing by Dr. Curtis' Hygeana.
Margaret Easton, Rockport, N. Y.
Mrs. Paul, of No. 5 Mammouth St., N. Y. was cured of a severe case of Bronchitis by the Hygeana.
My sister has been cured of a distressing cough of several years standing, and decided to be incurable by her Physicians. She was cured in one month by the Hygeana.

The Whig Fire in New York.

It has heretofore been the pride of the Whig party that its members were banded together, not for the spoils of victory, but for the preservation of sound principles of government; and, whether successful or not, they had the proud consciousness that they had checked aggression, restrained lawlessness, and compelled respect for the laws and institutions of the country. In the maintenance of liberty regulated by law, it was not always essential that they should be victors in mere party contests. It was the restraining, conservative qualities of the Whig organization that kept within bounds the radical and destructive elements united to all free Governments. Under all circumstances, therefore, of triumph or defeat, the old Whig party frowned upon and repudiated disorganizing doctrines. As well expressed by Mr. Olinde, they kept steady to the music of the Union. For a season the war with their well-trained adversaries seemed to be at an end, and a portion of their members worshipped at new altars; but the Whig fire was not quenched, nor all its glorious recollections obliterated. Danger to the country is impending, various sectional issues have been raised, and the old Whig bugle has been sounded to rally the good and true. And they are promptly coming to the rescue. The distinguished men of Massachusetts, ignoring all the mad aims of the day, have again rallied under the flag of the Union, and resolved to stand by the good work of their Revolutionary Fathers. It gives us unalloyed pleasure to be able to record also the movements, in the same path of duty, of the "old line" Whigs of the city of New York, as evinced at a numerous meeting held on Thursday last—an example to be followed, doubtless, in every part of the State.—Nat. Int.

Parties in New York.—They have now an endless variety of parties in the city of New York. One of the papers of that city says:

For instance, we have the hard shell democracy, and the softshell; the half shell and the double shell, and the American democracy; the straight out silver grey wings, and the fusion wings; the national republicans, the American republicans, the know-nothings, the temperance party, the city reform party, the abolition party, and the constitutional rights party—all of which have separate tickets or separate candidates.

Sickness in Indiana.

The Indianapolis Journal reports more sickness in Indiana this fall than ever before—not of a fatal character, it is true, but distressing and expensive. The cholera has come, like locusts in Utah, devouring the accumulated health of many summers. Those who have boasted themselves as being child-proof, have shaken like a coward entering a battle, and many a robust constitution has felt its clammy coldness over-spreading them like a November drizzle. From every quarter of the State we hear of back-schlus, sick-racked patients, and the combined fevers of all the afflicted would make a Louis sufficient to set up a young volcano.—Louisville Courier.

Never Despair.—Seven years ago Myron H. Clark kept a one-horse hardware store. In 1849 Myron H. Clark was deputy sheriff. In 1850 Myron H. Clark was one of the marshals for taking the census of a one-horse village. In 1853 Myron H. Clark was elected Senator. Myron H. Clark is now Governor of New York. Think of Myron H. Clark, and never say die. The man who will be President in 1870 is now, probably, peddling India rubber rat-traps. Again, we repeat, never despair.—Albany Tribune.

Mr. Mason, the American Minister at Paris, surprised his countrymen in that capital by attending the Te Deum ordered by Louis Napoleon in honor of the capture of Sebastopol. The other ministers of neutral powers were absent, and the Americans in Paris thought Mr. Mason ought to have acted with like propriety, considering that ours is also a neutral country. This has taken our Russo-American administration at Washington all aback.

The Liquor Law.—The Springfield Republican says the Massachusetts Supreme Court has declared this important opinion in the course of their decisions upon liquor cases: "That members of the 'Garrison League,' and also members of any society for the defeat of any statute of the commonwealth, who were banded together and contributing money, &c., to effect their object, were equally united to serve as jurors." The Republican thinks this will diminish candidates for the jury box very sensibly.

Santa Anna's Son in Trouble.—Santa Anna's son, who figured as a colonel in his father's army, mostly in Mexico, was taken prisoner a few days ago while on his way in disguise to Vera Cruz, with the intention of embarking secretly from the port. The people of the place, where he was arrested, determined to punish him on the spot for some alleged crime; but he was preserved from their vengeance and sent to Vera Cruz, where he awaits his trial. He is only 25 years of age, but is charged with some horrible crimes.

Bishop Lee, of Iowa, says that such is the great depth, and extraordinary fertility of the soil, and such its ready proximity to market, that Iowa cannot fail of being one of the leading agricultural States in the Union. Already it is giving homes to emigrants at the rate of about 100,000 a year.

CATAWAUGA, (Pa.) Oct. 2.—A very melancholy occurrence took place on the Lehigh river, at this place, last evening. A canal boat, containing two men, a woman, and two children, went over the dam, and all were drowned. The very heavy rain on Sunday last had raised the river to a great height, and the current above the accident took place is so strong that all efforts to save the unfortunate persons were unavailing. Earlier in the day a man went over at the same spot, and was also drowned.

Nearly Discovers a New Island.—A Nantucket whaling vessel has discovered a new island in the South Pacific Ocean. It is situated about two hundred and fifty miles south of New Zealand, and the ship which encountered it took from it in less than a week's time, four hundred barrels of sea elephant oil. Two other ships are said to be now in course of preparation to return thither, for the purpose of proving by this valuable discovery.

Teachers' Association.

The Adams County Teachers' Association met in the Methodist Episcopal Church in Gettysburg on Tuesday the 24th of October, at 10 o'clock A. M. and was opened with prayer by the Rev. J. C. H. Doss—D. Wills, Esq. County Superintendent, presiding. David Curran was appointed Secretary pro tempore, the Secretary being absent. The report of the Executive Committee was read by the Secretary, after which the Constitution was read and an opportunity given for persons desiring to connect themselves with the Association to do so, at which time eleven persons signed their names.

The report of the Committee on publication was read and the Committee discharged. A Committee was then appointed, consisting of F. A. McDermid, Albert Barr, and J. H. Eckhardt, to call on the Printers and ascertain the indebtedness of the Association for advertising.

The report of the Treasurer was read and received. By order of the Executive Committee the subject of Orthography was then taken up and discussed by Robert A. Lytle, followed by C. H. Austin, F. A. McDermid, David Curran, J. H. Eckhardt, Miss M. C. Thompson, Miss Lucinda Pickett, and others. On motion of Mr. Lytle, adjourned to meet at 2 o'clock.

2 o'clock, P. M.—Minutes read and approved. The Committee on Printing reported the indebtedness to be $1.54. On motion of Mr. Austin, the Treasurer was instructed to pay the bill.

The subject of Reading was then taken up and discussed by all the above-mentioned persons and others, after which the subject of Arithmetic was discussed. On motion of Mr. Austin, adjourned to meet at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

Wednesday, 25th October—Minutes read and approved. The subject of Notation, Numeration, Properties, Fractions, &c., were discussed, the Teachers generally taking part in the discussion. At 11 o'clock an able and lengthy address was delivered by Dr. MARSHALL, of Petersburg, in which he spoke of the degradation of mankind without an education, and addressed the Teachers particularly on the necessity of elevating the Profession of the Teacher. He also alluded to the results springing from a proper discharge of the duties of the Teacher toward his pupil, giving in part his experience in the art of teaching, and entreating the Teacher to discharge his duty faithfully, in setting his scholars an example in regard to the duties he owes to his country and his God. On motion of R. A. Lytle, the Convention adjourned to meet at half past one o'clock.

11 o'clock, P. M.—Opened with prayer by Dr. Marshall. The minutes of the forenoon session read and adopted. A vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Marshall for his able address, and a committee appointed to wait on the Doctor and secure a copy for publication in the School Journal. [Committee, C. H. Austin, F. A. McDermid, H. J. Eckhardt, &c.] The Convention then proceeded to the election of officers, and DAVID CURRAN, Esq., was elected President, F. A. McDermid, Vice President, and DAVID CURRAN, Secretary. An Executive Committee of five was also elected. [Committee, C. H. Austin, R. A. Lytle, F. A. McDermid, H. J. Eckhardt, &c.] The discussion on proportion was continued, in which Mr. Alliman, of Franklin county, participated. A motion of D. Curran, to adjourn in the evening to meet in the month of February, was overruled by a vote of the Convention, and a motion to continue in session on Thursday, was carried. The subject of Geography was then taken up and briefly discussed. On motion of F. A. Lytle, adjourned to meet at 9 o'clock, A. M., on Thursday.

Thursday, 26th October—Opened with prayer by Mr. Doss. Minutes read and approved. A motion was made by C. H. Austin, that Mr. Alliman explain his manner of teaching Reading, which was adopted. The subject was taken up and explained by Mr. A. beginning at Orthography, and explaining the different sounds of consonants and vowels and their combinations. He then treated on Punctuation and Etymology at length.

The subject of School Discipline was then taken up and discussed by Messrs. Doss, Austin, Nicks, Lytle, and others. On motion of Mr. Austin, adjourned to meet at 2 o'clock.

2 o'clock, P. M.—Minutes read and approved. A very interesting address by Dr. STARR, of Chambersburg, was delivered, in which he urged the necessity of having school houses properly ventilated by the admission of pure air to the place of building school houses in healthy localities, &c.

The subject of School Discipline was then resumed, in which discussion Messrs. Alliman, F. A. McDermid, Doss, and Nicks, gave their views.

A motion by David Curran to adjourn at 4 o'clock was unanimously carried.

A motion for the Treasurer to pay the sum of $1.54 to the sexton was also carried.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Dr. Starr for his eloquent address. The Executive Committee then proposed the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Association be tendered to the Trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church for their kindness in granting the use of the Church to the Association for the present meeting.

Resolved, That the best interests of this Association will be promoted by Teachers generally taking part in the discussions.

Resolved, That Teachers generally should take more active part in our Association by attending the same in future meetings.

Resolved, That Female Teachers should receive the same compensation as Male Teachers for performing the same labor.

Resolved, That this Association adjourn to meet (without any public notice) on the first Thursday of February next.

DAVID CURRAN, Secy.

The increase of the free States of the West continues to be very large. There is not one of them which does not bid fair to become exceedingly populous. Illinois and Indiana have each over a million of inhabitants, while Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa have each over a half a million. The soil in all these States is excellent and the influx of settlers rapid. In the last five years Wisconsin has added 270,000 to her population and now has 557,000. Iowa has increased still more largely. In 1850 her population was 150,000, and now it is 250,000. It is not surprising, therefore, that the States we have named seem likely to possess in long years a population equal to that of Ohio.

Choked to Death.

A German butcher, at the King of Prussia Tavern in Lancaster, met with his death on Wednesday last, in a rather singular manner. He is reported to have been drinking pretty freely the day before, and when he went to the dinner table was in a hearty state of intoxication. While eating, he was observed by persons at the table to gag as if choking, but little attention, however, was paid to it, as it was thought to be the effect of having drunk too much. In a short time he arose from the table and went into the yard, where after a considerable time had elapsed he was found dead. An inquest was held, and on the physician making a post mortem examination, he discovered two pieces of meat so firmly lodged in the throat as to cause strangulation. A verdict was rendered in accordance with the above facts.

A Fight Prevented.—Two men got into a fight yesterday on Sugar Alley, east of Third street, when a large dog rushed out of a house near by and made a furious demonstration towards the combatants, who immediately separated and decamped in opposite directions. One of the men, being closely followed by the dog, was obliged to take refuge in a shed; and although he succeeded in closing the door against the animal, he was compelled to remain there until his owner came to his relief.—Ohio Statesman.

The Revolution in Mexico.—An arrival at New Orleans from the Rio Grande reports that the revolutionists have demanded the surrender of Matamoros. The inhabitants fearing the city would be sacked, were flocking to the Texas side of the Rio Grande. It was reported that San Luis Potosi had been captured by the revolutionary forces, Gen. Guzman killed, the army dispersed, and the city made to change its plan from that of Ayutla to that of Monterrey.

Tampico is also said to have pronounced for Vidauri and his plan. Gen. Casanova, the Commander of Tampico, had been driven from that city, and civil government substituted for military rule.

Hon. Edward Stanley, formerly a distinguished member of Congress from N. Carolina, is now a Whig anti-know Nothing candidate for the State Senate in San Francisco.

Wonderful! Wonderful! Wonderful!—THE LIKE HAS NEVER BEEN KNOWN IN OUR CITY!—An old citizen, 63 years of age, who had lost the use of his hands and fingers, fully restored by the almost miraculous use of Prof. CHARLES DE GRANT'S "MAGICAL ELECTRIC OIL."

Mr. GEORGE W. REID, residing at 227 E. Second street, one door from the corner of Somerset street, two doors from St. James' church, had his fingers of both hands fully restored to their former use, after having been paralyzed for three years. The cure has been made by a single dollar bottle of Prof. De Grant's Oil. Mr. Reid will be pleased to see persons who wish to know more of his case and the magical effects of the Oil. Call and see him.

Many have been taken off their crutches in two or three days, from severe Rheumatism, also Gout, and hundreds have been cured of Neuralgia and other complaints, too well known to need further proof.

Cautions.—No (genuine) "Electric Oil" is sold by peddlars and quacks. We hear of impositions practiced on the people.

For Sale by S. S. Forney, Gettysburg, and also throughout the country. [Sept. 17.]

TOWER'S SPELLER AND COMPLETE ENUNCIATOR; and TOWER'S READERS.

FIRST READER, or Primary School Enunciator, Part I.
SECOND READER, or Primary School Enunciator, Part II.

THIRD READER, with Complete Exercises in Articulation.
FOURTH READER: a sequel to the Gradual.

FIFTH READER, with Principles of Etymology practically illustrated by Elementary Exercises.

SIXTH READER, with the Higher Principles of Etymology explained and illustrated by appropriate Exercises.

The Readers are prepared upon the plan of teaching only one thing at a time, and they contain a full, complete and original system of exercises in Articulation, to which the author has an exclusive right.

The Etymological matter is simple and comprehensive; adapted to the school-room as only practical teachers know how to prepare and adapt it.

The Selections for Reading are carefully graded from the first step to the last. The stories are choice, pure, and freed from all low and improper expressions; they are designed to cultivate a correct taste, to refine the feelings, and to elevate moral affections. They were selected and prepared by the true teacher, who alone can understand the practical wants of the expanding heart and mind of the school-room pupil.

Also, Tower's Elements of Grammar for beginners, and Tower's English Grammar for advanced classes.

Teachers, School Committees, Clergymen, and all others interested in Education are invited to call and examine these Books.

EHYANA.

Brought Home to the Door of the Million.

Wonderful discovery has been recently made by Dr. Curtis, of this city, in the ment of Consumptive n, Asthma, and all cases of the Lungs. We refer to "Dr. Cur-
Ehyana, or Inhaling Hyaline Vapor, Cherry Syrup." With this new method C has restored many afflicted ones to per-health; as an evidence of which he has merable certificates. Speaking of the in a physician's remarks: "It is evident inhalings—constantly breathing an agreeable vapor, the medicinal properties of which are combined with the whole of the curative efficacy of the lungs, and this expansive and varied change produced upon when introduced into the stomach, and exposed to the process of digestion. The cure is for sale at the druggists throughout the country."—New York Dutchman.

The inhaler is worn on the breast under the arm, without the least inconvenience—the of the body being sufficient to evaporate
the vapors of cures like the follow-might be named. One Package of Hygiene has cured me of the ASTHMA of six years standing.

Wm. F. Keesley, P. M. of Durbanen, Ia.
I was cured of the ASTHMA of ten years standing by Dr. Curtis' Hygiene.

Margaret Easton, Brooklyn, N. Y.
I was, Paul, of No. 5 Mammond St., N. Y.
cured of a severe case of Bronchitis by Hygiene.

My sister has been cured of a distressing case of several years standing, and decided incurable by her Physicians. She was in one month free from the Hygiene.
